YOUR NEW SOLUTION FOR DETECTING HYPERTENSION

EXPERIENCE BLOOD PRESSURE READINGS YOU CAN BELIEVE IN.

You may have heard about blood pressure averaging, but do you know how it can help improve hypertension screening? Relying on a single blood pressure measurement can be misleading.²

First-time readings can yield higher results than subsequent blood pressure measurements.² Additionally, it's common for variations to occur between readings captured in a series.⁴ That's why the American Heart Association recommends automated office blood pressure solutions that can capture and average multiple readings during a single visit.²

Blood pressure averaging helps provide a more accurate view of your patient's heart health, so you can detect hypertension with confidence.²
